INTRODUCTION

Every manual may need revisions, corrections and/or modifications. These changes may affect the contents or may include new or additional information not previously covered in the manual. The purpose of this section is to include all this data and information as appendices, supplements and annexes to simplify the use and the structure of this manual.

This section is divided into three subsections:

- Section 11A Appendices. Includes all the appendices and its corresponding record of revisions.
- Section 11S Supplements. Includes all the supplements and its corresponding record of revisions.
- Section 11N Annexes. Includes all the annexes and its corresponding record of revisions.

There are specific Front Pages, List of Effective Pages and Record of Revisions for Appendices, Supplements and Annexes, because the revisions and/or modifications to them may differ from the revisions to the rest of the contents of this manual.

Different purpose has been considered to appendix, supplement and annex. Following paragraphs determines the purpose and the use for each one of them.

SECTION 11A. APPENDICES

An appendix contains changes or modifications to this Performance Data Manual associated with a specific type of operation or changes in the design or the equipment that may affect a great part of the contents of this manual and which are gathered in a condensed form for simplicity.

All the appendices include its corresponding Front Page, List of Effective Pages, Table of Contents and List of Figures, as well as the information covered by them. The title and a sequential number identify every appendix. This information is reflected in the Record of Appendices. All the Appendices, as well as the Record of Appendices are gathered in section 11A.

SECTION 11S. SUPPLEMENTS

A Supplement contains additional data, information, limitations or procedures applicable to the specific operation associated with special equipment and/or optional modifications of the aircraft and its systems not included in the original contents of this Performance Data Manual. Supplements may affect a great part of the contents of this manual and are gathered in a condensed form for simplicity.

All the supplements include its corresponding Front Page, List of Effective Pages, Table of Contents and List of Figures, as well as the information covered by them. The title and a sequential number identify every supplement. This information is reflected in the Record of Supplements. All the supplements, as well as the Record of Supplements are gathered in section 11S.

SECTION 11N. ANNEXES

An annex contains additional information to this Performance Data Manual but is not part of the contents of this manual. It is included to facilitate the access to the above mentioned information or as a requirement of the operator.

NOTE

As the information included in the annexes is taken from other official manuals and/or documents, in case of doubt or contradiction, the information in the above mentioned source manuals will always prevail.

All the annexes include its corresponding Front Page, List of Effective Pages, Table of Contents and List of Figures, as well as the information covered by them. The title and a sequential number identify every annex. This information is reflected in the Record of Annexes. All the annexes, as well as the Record of Annexes are gathered in section 11N.
